Master Herbert was bred by ourselves with no plans of breeding a line of horses but as he was easily managed and of good quality he was kept as a colt. His dam YOOROONA GIDGET (Captain Stan x Patsy) was brought from Queensland by JY Maitland to play polo. She played for ten seasons, remaining sound throughout, before retiring to stud. Gidget was a calm mare and always reliable. She was a smooth actioned athletic type and played an active part in Clare polo teams in the 1970's. Gidget won a polo pony prize at the Hexham tournament in 1979 in the twilight of her career and was admired by many.

Master Herbert was her first foal in 1984 and one of the last sired by RANNOCK (Dundee by Panzer x TINAGROO MERSA by Panzer). As a youngster Herbie was a working stock horse on our property and was lightly shown. Some of the highlights were placing at the Nationals at

President's Report

Welcome to our new committee!

This year I believe we need to focus on getting our members involved! I am a little disappointed at the number of people that attended the AGM, considering how many members we actually have. Let us make this year successful and productive.

We have lots of shows this year and we hope everyone will come out and get involved whether it be competing or just helping out. We are trying to have a mixture of everything this year, with an exciting new concept of having a Swap Meet. This will be held at the Lobethal polocrosse grounds on November the 29th. We hope to see you all there!

Geelong, winning Supreme Ridden Australian Stock Horse at the SA State Championship show in 1991 (judged by Barry Sawyer) and the Ridden ASH and Reserve Champion Led ASH at the Adelaide Royal in 1993. He also joined the ranks of the local hunt and endurance ride.

He was truly versatile. Herbie’s temperament was great as he could be a quiet farm horse and then put in an athletic performance under pressure.

The first mare we bred in 1987 was YOOROONA SALUKI.

She was bred for me by Anne Bailey and was by TB horse FOLLOW ME and out of a Charble mare. Her youngest progeny by Herbie are YOOROONA SCHWEPPEES and YOOROONA SAMSON. Both are an important part of our present polo team. SCHWEPPEES was a Royal show and Show Series winner. She also performed well in challenges and placed in a campdraft. She has a foal by MR FITZJESTER who is playing good A-grade polo for Guy Cunningham. Full Brother YOOROONA SHIRPA had a similar career as well as being ridden by son Scott for many years and then going into the TV industry as an all-rounder (including appearing on McLeod’s Daughters).

Yooroona Shirpa with Scott Roberts Lucindale Campdraft 1999

Most of Herbie’s early progeny stayed in the Mid-North of South Australia and were not registered. In 1990 he was leased to the Gowers of Chalani Australian Stock Horses at Echunga. CHALANI GISELLE (from CHALANI CAT BALLOU – who is on the ASHS Wall of Fame) was probably the best performed of the progeny bred by them and is the dam of CHALANI NIGHTDANCE (Show series and All-breeds Supreme winner now standing at stud) and CHALANI DANCE (SA State 3yo Futurity Winner and National ASH Futurity placegetter).

WIRREANDA COMIC (b. 1975) owned by Grant Waterman from Melrose also bred talented progeny by Herbie in a variety of fields including dressage and pony club. Guy Cunningham played A grade polo with two of them in 2008-09 season with one of them regularly playing double chukkas.

Pep Em Up is the dam of YOOROONA PACEMAKER, a Champion Royal Show performer and also placed at the Nationals at Narrabri. PACEMAKER, PEBBLES and PANCHO, all by Herbie, are in our current polo string. At present we are starting quality Herbie youngsters from NEVLYN ROMAE (WILJOHN ROMAN x NEVLYN DAINTY) and SPRINGALEE RIVOLI MYSTERY (RIVOLI REWARD x LUKENOUGH VICTORIA) showing campdraft and polo ability so the future looks good.

Tom Dodd’s mare COALMINERS DAUGHTER (FANCY SAN x AILEENS GIFT) foaled three progeny by Herbie, including PRECIOUS HOPE (multi champion show winner) now in-foal with the Hoad family in SA, and TOMALI MASTER RANNOCK who has been retained as a colt showing a lovely temperament.

Chalani Minerva
The last by Master Herbert

The future also looks good with Herbie’s last foal an outstanding brown filly of his type, CHALANI MINERVA, from CHALANI AURORA (CHALANI MYSTIC x CHALANI STAR MERIT). She was Champion at her first outing as a weanling in 2009 with a MASTER HERBERT great grandson Reserve Champion.

I can remember writing that I hoped MASTER HERBERT would make a worthwhile contribution to the horse industry in South Australia the 1990’s, but it has continued beyond that time. I think ASH breeding has progressed in the last 20 years with more horses of better temperament and ability and that our MASTER HERBERT progeny and descendants have been part of that development.

We have not run a commercial stud and been proud to offer our horse and his progeny locally and see them being used and enjoyed by South Australians. I consider that each Australian state is different and that each should make its own identity while within the framework of the Australian Stock Horse Society. We do not have large cattle numbers or many big country centres in South Australia so it is hard to specialize in a discipline because travelling long distances is not always practical. To get best usage of our horses they need to be multi-disciplined requiring good temperament and athletic ability. I believe that MASTER HERBERT progeny have been able to meet that need.

Grooms Guff

Groom's Guff— Coming Full Circle

Two Years ago your life completely changed for the better.

After much cajoling and use of other very large words, Your Favorite Groom finally put fingertip to keyboard to write the first Groom's Guff.

The subject of course was the ASH Nationals, circa 2007. Now two years later, I give you the Groom's Guff report of the 2009 nationals.

Usually the Nationals start with your Horse Gal booking out a week in your calendar so that you can organise the holidays with your employer.

Those of you who know me personally, know that my boss is to Me as That Bloody Gelding is to Grooms. Can I just say that that line didn't come out as "punchy" as I would have liked, but this is a family newsletter. After providing a bunch of cup cakes, bacon and a few other Internet meme's you will get the time off.

Now you need to start packing. Your Horse Gal will look after all the horse feed, tack, entry money, horses, float repairs, car service, leaving you with the most important task: The Food.

I suggest a mixture of foods. You will be cooking on a BBQ for most of the trip so things like steaks and sausages go in an esky. Some canned goods are important to ensure that you can still keep camp food down. You need coffee and lots of milo.

One a side note, Camp Milo is one of the best inventions in the multiverse. Some snacks for the looooooong drive would be the go. Mix up the chips and chocolate with some fresh fruit, to keep you regular, m'kay!

You need to set off at an early hour. Like really early. Like so early, the chooks are still on their perch and the dogs are sound asleep. If you look up and see Milky Way you are leaving at the right time. After a brief argument with your Horse Gal on who will drive, put your Veto vote down. Your Horse Gal will retort with her Veto vote, which trumps yours. I guess she'll be driving first, so you get stuck with the last leg!

Now pull out your Navman GPS – and start typing in the first waypoint – in this case Taillem Bend. Ignore your Horse Gal's grumbles and her hatred of "That Thing", developed strongly in NZ (must be the accent). Throughout the trip consult the Navman regularly so that you know where you are and how long till the next food stop.

Ok, you are off and away!

Your overnight stop will be the township of Hay. Not to be confused with the stuff horses eat. Stay at the showgrounds there and make sure the horse is tucked in for the night. I found that cooking a few sausages was the gig here – so you may want to do the same.

The next morning get up really early again and set off. Stop a few miles down the road and turn around to pick up the horse. After you are packed, go to the local servo to get the fricken completely incorrect directions on how to get to Scone, from a 'local' New South Welshman.

Follow them. [Ed note: Normally the Navman agrees with everything. Only this time, The Navman does not know what to say, as it thinks you are in the middle of no-where – about the only time it is genuinely believable].

2 hours down the road start to listen to your Navman [Ed note: You mean Horse Gal intuition]. Stop and buy a paper map – work out where you really should be, then take a shortcut north to the correct road.

Remember to grumble about the servo station attendant for the rest of the trip. Feel free to point out that the Navman was right if you want to get punched. Discover Horse Gal was right about one thing on the Navman & change the voice setting.

Anyway, trundle on in your jalopy and after another day of driving you will arrive at Scone. Go in the 'other' entrance and discover you need to find the entrance on the 'other' side of the giant ditch through the showgrounds! Find a camp spot, tuck the horse in for the night and cook some food.

Groom's Guff—

The next day you will need to get up bright and early – you remembered the torch right?

Horse Gal says there is a whole day of competition at the grounds before her classes even start. Feel free to have a couple of drinks to make the time pass, until there are some horses to watch going around obstacles.

Now this is a trap for young players – camp mugs are generally a LOT larger than normal cups. This means that you will imbibe more than double the amount of wine per cup. This is bad. At the end of the evening know that you will get no sympathy from your Horse gal while you are on your hands and knees on the edge of the camp site feeling miserable.

You did it to yourself! Did I point out the “no sympathy” thing? I did? Good. There is an important event going on the next day, remember?

The next day, get up way too early again. Get the horse ready and send your Horse Gal off for her first event, a parade at this point. The glow of sheer joy on your Horse Gal's face will lighten your heart. Once your Gal has done her events – float over to the food vans to review the selection. I found that there were only two food vans and one coffee cart, which was substantially less than the '07 National at Camden. Luckily the food was of reasonable quality, however I would like to see more choice next time.

The Governor General, Ms Quentin Bryce AC, will arrive on the second evening to officially open the show. She is the patron of the ASH Society don'y'know. Her Excellency is an extremely elegant lady and will speak about how she used to ride ponies as a girl.

After the opening ceremony, wander up to the tent to get a feed with the Exec's. You will feel pretty Executive after your Horse Gal wins some ribbons. After you are turned away, go back to your campfire and cook up some chops. You may want to have a few quiet moments and go and watch some camp drafting.

On the last night of the show, pop into the local RSL. RSL's in the eastern states are so much more awesome than ones in SA. They are essentially like pubs but with 1970's prices! Next trip we will avail ourselves of more RSL's. They do good Chinese food in Scone RSL.

The trip home takes two nights - stay in Hay again, and try not to point out how correct the Navman was [Ed note: Or wasn't]. Also a preposition is not a wise thing to end a sentence with.

One more thing that I know is close to every Groom's heart – that of cleanliness. The number of showers at Scone is limited. There were 2 for the whole event for the lads. I suggest, if you want a hot shower, and only if you want it hot, you need to shower at the end of the evening or first thing in the morning. By first thing, I mean Horse person first thing – just check for the Milky Way and you'll be right.

All in all, a good show – would love to see more showers, food options and different event types. The show was well run and reasonably organised. Having the Governor General attend was a high point of the show for this little black duck.

Until next time fair Horse People!

Yours in groomin'

Article Copyright Jeanette Gower

A good horse can be recognised by anyone!
He must stand squarely and exhibit the balance, presence and smooth lines of an athlete.

This mare lacks femininity and grace. —>>

Ears too wide set and too long.
Eyes angular and small.
Face slabsided and long.
Not broad enough between the eyes.
Head generally heavy.

Mare does not stand square. From the chest, the legs narrow down, known as 'base-narrow.'
Back legs do the same.
Is also pigeon-toed and wide at the knees.

Conformation Series—Part 3 “The Horse Must Stand Square—Part A”

These horses to the left are good in the back legs, particularly the hocks, but their front legs leave a lot to be desired.

<<— Well defined chest but turned out front feet from the fetlock down (hence photographed in grass).

Head bold, —>> but ears look like antlers poking outwards. Bull chested, sometimes known as ‘loaded shoulders’. Tends to cause the horse to develop a rolling motion. Breast not as good as top left horse, but better inside muscling to forearm.

<<— Meaty chested, gives a ‘choppy’ action.

<<— Offset cannon (off foreleg)

Should be:

<<— Turned knees (Face outwards, not to the front, hence hooves splay out.)

Ladies Clinic

After the success of the 2008 SA ASH Ladies Clinic held at Monarto, 2009 was guaranteed to be a great weekend for the ASH ladies from across South Australia.

Keith Pony Club Grounds provided perfect footing over the 3 days when Keith saw more rain than had been experienced in years. With 31mm in the first 24 hours the urn and pot belly stove certainly received a workout.

Over the three days the ladies were instructed in Led, Conformation & Feeding, Show presentation, Show Jumping, Polocrosse, ASHLA, Ridden Patterns, Utility, Working classes, Dressage, Time Trial and Campdrafting (using a mechanical cow) as well as various schooling techniques to get their horses soft and supple and moving forward with control.

ASHS Accredited Coach, Mrs Sue Lind from Bairnsdale was a wealth of information and as a well-rounded competitor in many disciplines (not only ASH) she was a valuable instructor for the weekend with many of the ladies taking away new concepts and exercises to improve their horses and riding.

Some very wet horses and ladies!

Assistant instructors also included Andrew Cameron, who worked on Polocrosse instruction, Mr Greg Willoughby (EFA Accredited Instructor) with Show Jumping, as well as Mr Cameron Strachan ASH Events and Mr Russell Lawrence, Equine Dentistry & Horsemanship.

It was great to see that overall the ladies improved their riding skills and from the positive feedback received, SA ASH ladies will be looking forward to another great Clinic in 2010!
